We have been surveying a cross section of our customer base to find out from you, our most valuable asset, what we can do to be the best company we can be going forward. We have a lot of great ideas and we look forward to implementing many of them.

Customer service will be our top priority!

We will also be working on improving lead times dramatically, coming out with new products and promotions, as well as improving our On-Line capabilities. We look forward to working closely with all of you to grow together in the coming years and thank you again for your support in our new venture.
